THE ATLANTA CAMPAIGN.

That there is at least one live issue in at least one section of the south was surely demonstrated last Saturday week. The annual campaign in Atlanta between the Wets and the Dries was a very conspicuous specimen of a social disturbance and pernicious activity. If temperance is a moral instead of a political question the case of Atlanta shows that evil methods and objectionable conduct can be employed in solving moral problems as well as problems in politics. Apart, however, from considerations of this kind there was one phase of the discussion which was novel and in some respects commendable, and that was that both sides of the question were argued, advocated and answered in parallel columns of the same newspapers. This plan was not confined to the Constitution in which Mr. Howell as the exponent of the principles of the Wets, showed in words of burning eloquence that the volume of human happiness among civilized people is in proportion to the amount of ardent spirits consumed by them and in which Mr. Grady, as the chosen apostle of the dries, showed in words which thrilled the ganglions of every listener that the volume of human misery is in exact proportion to the consumption of ardent spirits. Both of these positions are advocated and sustained by facts and figures, by historical references, by personal experiences, by social statistics, and by demonstrations of every possible, and some most impossible, kind. Zeal, pertinacity and a determination to win or explode come to the surface in every line; and so lurid and forcible was the language and in such close association were the conflicting sentiments, that the reader is continually apprehensive of spontaneous combustion, and the consequent destruction of the Constitution.

Before us lies a copy of the Evening Journal, of Atlanta, issued ten days ago just prior to the election. It bristles with interrogation and exclamation points; contains numerous questions and answers; has squibs, witticisms and paragraphs, and presents leaders and letters—all bearing on the wet and dry campaign. One column devoted to wet principles says that under the dry administration Atlanta has degenerated into a third-rate town—that business has been extinguished, that the streets would make good grazing grounds, that half the population was sitting around on curb-stones and dry-goods boxes, waiting for the other half to furnish pipes and tobacco, and that there were general depression and retrogression; while another column not far distant declares that the banking capital and surplus have increased one and one-half millions of dollars in two years—that the attendance in the schools was larger than ever before—that coal dealers sell for cash when in moist seasons credit had to be given—that manufacturing enterprises have multiplied and extended—that railroad traffic had been marvelously enlarged and that everything was rosy and booming. One column shows beyond doubt that beverages which exhilerate cannot be obtained—that the saloons are locked and sealed at the front, while the back doors are hermetically plugged up, and that the sight of a drunken man would cause general wonder and partial consternation; while in another column figures are given to show that from Griffin, Macon and other reachable towns, there were imported in jugs in the month of October more than 32,000 gallons of ardent spirits, while twelve carloads of beer were received at the port of Atlanta during the same month. A wet orator tells the colored people that "every man who has the right to vote, shall have the chance; and so help me God; I will be on hand and go on your bond;" while a prohibition elocutionist warns his adversaries that illegal voting will be prevented at the point of the bayonet.

In this manner the campaign went on until election when the wets were victorious. The dries seem to have concluded that they were fairly beaten,—have hauled in their banners from the outer walls, and have manifested a desire to shake hands over the beery chasm. About the only lesson in the whole matter which we of the north would naturally draw from the campaign, is that on questions involving high moral principles the colored people are considered perfectly competent to vote, but on questions of ordinary politics they are looked upon as too ignorant and besotted to have a voice.

THE GOVERNMENTAL CIRCUS.

The first session of the Fiftieth congress opened at noon to-day. It will be the same old story, a long session and very few practical measures will become laws. There will be a good deal of wrangling between the two parties, and the chief point in view will be the getting of some political advantage over each other. The session, being the first of the new congress, will run into mid-summer.

There is much work for this congress to do, but it is a question whether it will do it. One of the questions which will naturally command the attention of congress will be that of the surplus. The receipts of the government are greater than are necessary for all current expenses, besides a liberal amount left to apply on the public debt. The leaders of both parties see the uselessness of such a surplus. How to reduce it—where to begin and where to end, and off what articles the tariff and the tax shall be taken—are questions on which there is a lack of harmony among the congressmen of both parties. Some want the tariff off sugar. Some want the internal revenue tax off whisky and tobacco, and a considerable portion of the democratic members want a general reduction of the tariff on imported articles. But a majority of the democratic members will likely be opposed to meddling with the tariff. There is a national campaign on hand next year, and the tariff will be one of the leading issues, and if the democratic house shal pass a reduction bill, they will likely suffer defeat for it in New Jersey and two or three other democratic states where the prevailing sentiment is for protection.

The question of postal telegraphy will come up again in congress, but it is doubtful if a bill passes. The administration is opposed to it. A majority of the members of congress seem to be opposed to it. Politics does not have much to do with the question. Republicans are as loth to adopt the system as democrats, and one party in congress is as much under the influence of Jay Gould as the other. It may not be wise to pass a postal telegraph bill, but it will do the country a good service if congress would take time to give the subject thorough consideration. If any member has any substantial reasons why the system should not be adopted he should let the public know what they are.

Dakota will again knock at the door of the Union for admission, but the chances are that the knocking will not be heard until after the presidential election. A democratic congress will not make another republican state if it can help it, and that is why Dakota will not be admitted. It is a crime against the territory, but the action of the democratic house, as bad and unwarrantable as it is, is a fair illustration of the spirit of the democratic party.

The New York Tribune gets muddled on the women suffrage law of this state, as will be seen from the following editorial note from that paper: "By a recent decision of the United States circuit court of Wisconsin, women in that state have the right to vote in all city lections. About three years ago a bill was introduced in the state senate giving women the right to vote at all elections pertaining to school matters. In the customary slip-shod way the bill was hurried through both houses under the impression that it simply authorized women to vote for school officers, a measure which nearly every body approved of. The bill was then submitted to the people and having received a majority of the votes cast became a law. And then came the surprise which was probably foreseen by the man who drew up the bill. At the municipal elections last spring a large number of women claimed the right to vote for mayor, controller and members of the common council on the ground that the words of the act, "all elections pertaining to school matters" referred to such officers. A test case was made up for the circuit court which has sustained the women. And so to its intense surprise Wisconsin finds that it has, without knowing it, given the ballot to women. The law cannot be repealed except by a popular vote and as the women have a right to vote on the question they have the matter in their own hands." In the first place the United States circuit court had nothing to do with the question and never rendered a decision in regard to it. And in the second place the bill was never submitted to the people of the state for endorsement because it did not involve a constitutional amendment. In the third place the decision rendered by Judge Winslow, of the Racine county circuit, does not give women in other parts of the state the right to vote at all municipal elections. In the fourth place the law can be repealed without a vote of the people because it is simply a legislative enactment.

It troubles some of the democratic papers that are dead-set against protection to witness the double-face act of the administration in regard to revenue and the tariff. Here is the way the Philadelphia Record, democratic, unloads its mind:

The president has recommended the passage of measures which would have reduced taxation with his right hand, but with his left hand he has invited to his councils and encouraged by his patronage men pledged to the support of the tariff monopolies which are oppressing the nation with unjust and unnecessary taxation.

The Record should understand, and probably it does by this time, that the administration is trying to get on both sides of the surplus and the tariff questions. It has two factions to please, and however ridiculous the performance, it must be for and against the tariff. The democratic party can't win next year by simply taking one side of a question. It must face both ways at the same time or fail, and probably it will fail anyway.

In speaking of the recent meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Independent, of New York, says: "Their advice to congress, that it abolish the tax on all alcoholic liquors, is so contrary to the received maxim that vices and luxuries are the first objects of taxation, that one is surprised at its audacity. Those most delighted with it will be the politicians who wish the tariff on manufactured articles retained indefinitely. That the women should join their cry for free whisky will delight them, but that this cry should come from temperance women is a fresh surprise.

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches snuffs, powders, syringes, astringents or any similar application, because they are all irritating do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

A NEW CHIEF.

M. Sadi-Carnot Chosen President of the French Republic.

THE RESULT SATISFACTORY TO ALL.

M. Rouvier's Cabinet to Be Retained for the Present—European Comment—Something About Grevy's Successor.

AN EXALTED FRENCHMAN.

VERSAILLES, Dec. 5.—M. Sadi-Carnot has been elected President of the Republic.

The Formal Congress of Senators and Deputies to elect a successor to President Grevy was opened Saturday by M. Le Royer, President of the Senate, who declared that the National Assembly was duly constituted to elect a President. Deputy Michelin, an irreconcilable, then asked leave to make a motion, but the President refused to allow him to do so, declaring that the Assembly was an Electoral College. M. Paul De Cassagnac observed that the Assembly was sovereign. M. Gautier contested the competency of the President to limit the Assembly's rights. President Le Royer replied: "I take my stand on the constitution." M. Michelin wished to propose to revise the constitution. The president again declined to allow M. Michelin's proposal to be made, and the latter entered a protest. The matter was then dropped. The formal balloting for the election of a President began at 2:15 p. m., and closed at 4:15 p. m.

M. SADI-CARNOT.

The result of the first ballot taken in the Congress was: M. Sadi-Carnot, 303; M. Ferry, 212; General Saussier, 148; M. De Freycinet, 76; General Appert, 72; M. Brisson, 26; other candidates, 26.

Before the second ballot was taken the members of the Left groups held a meeting. M. Ferry announced his resolution to withdraw in favor of M. Sadi-Carnot, and M. De Freycinet tendered a similar notification. An order of the day was thereupon adopted, declaring that the party recorded these patriotic acts of withdrawal, and at M. Ferry's instance resolved to vote for M. Sadi-Carnot. The result of the second and final ballot was as follows: M. Sadi-Carnot, 616; General Saussier, 186; M. Ferry, 11; M. De Freycinet, 5; General Appert, 5; M. Puyat, 1. M. Le Royer, on receiving the ballot return, said: "M. Sadi-Carnot having obtained the suffrage, I proclaim him President of the Republic." There was an outburst of cheers, especially from the Left and Center. M. Le Royer then declared the session closed.

After signing the procès-verbal of the decisions of the Congress and dispatching the necessary official notifications of the result of the election, President Le Royer, attended by ushers and followed by the Ministers, proceeded to his private apartment, where M. Sadi-Carnot was in waiting. M. Le Royer addressed the newly elected President as follows: "I have the honor to inform you that the National Assembly has just elected you to the Presidency. I congratulate you in the name of the Congress, and desire to add to these congratulations my personal compliments." M. Rouvier also congratulated M. Sadi-Carnot, adding: "The Republicans, in uniting to elect M. Sadi-Carnot, have given proofs of the sentiment of union and concord which actuated them, and at the same time afforded the country a pledge of peace and prosperity." The newly-elected President responded as follows:

"I thank you from the bottom of my heart for the congratulations and sentiments expressed. I am filled with gratitude to the members of the Assembly who, in uniting their suffrages in my favor, bore witness to the desire for peace and concord with which Republican France is animated. My dearest wish is that this great day may remain present in all minds and hearts. It signifies that the representatives of France can be united. Their common efforts can and must secure the constitution, assuring an active and stable working Government, capable of bestowing upon the nation liberty at home and dignity abroad, with all the benefits which our country expects from the Republic. Once more I thank you. You may count upon my entire devotion."

The President afterward received General Lavocat, commanding the troops at Versailles, who came with his staff to present his respects. Afterward M. Sadi-Carnot advanced to meet representatives of the press desiring to congratulate him. He shook them warmly by the hand, and after giving them a copy of his speech, said: "I feel confident that the press will do all in its power to tranquillize the public mind." Meanwhile a squadron of cuirassiers was drawn up in the courtyard, and when the President came forth with the Ministers the troops presented arms and paid him military honors. M. Sadi-Carnot entered a carriage with M. Rouvier, and with the other Ministers in carriages following, the cortege started at a rapid pace for Paris. An escort of cuirassiers brought up the rear. The other Senators and Deputies returned to Paris on a special train. The news of the result of the election was received in Versailles with the greatest enthusiasm. A large crowd surrounded the Congress building throughout the afternoon. Shouts of "Vive Carnot; Vive la Republique," mingled with the various patriotic cries, continued for a long time with unabated vigor.

M. Sadi-Carnot drove direct from Versailles to the Elysee to take formal possession of the palace, but soon retired to his own residence, No. 25 Rue des Bassins. The inhabitants of that quarter speedily assembled and greeted the President with enthusiastic shouts of: "Vive Sadi-Carnot," and "Vive le nouveau President." M. Sadi-Carnot appeared at a window of his house and said: "I give you hearty thanks, citizens, for this evidence of your sympathy. I beg you to prove by your calm demeanor and regard for order that you are in truth worthy to have a Republican Government." The speech was hailed with shouts of "Vive la Republique." The people dispersed quietly. Many houses and shops were illuminated and decked with the tri-color.

President Sadi-Carnot was formally installed in the Elysee Palace yesterday afternoon, and later received visits from ex-President Grevy, M. Rouvier, President Peytral, of the budget committee, and other leading politicians. The President stated that it was his intention, after the new Ministry was formed, to at once close the present session of Parliament until after the coming Senatorial elections.

The Ministry have formally tendered their resignations and President Sadi-Carnot has requested them to remain in office for the present for the dispatch of public business.

The Papal Nuncio has received instructions from the Vatican to pay an early visit to the President and to establish friendly relations at the outset with the new Administration by explicitly declaring the good-will of the Holy See toward France.

The newspapers of this city generally approve the election of M. Sadi-Carnot and consider it an augury of peace. The telegrams from the provinces, without exception, testify to the satisfaction felt at the result of the election.

The central revolutionary committee has issued a notice signed by Eudes and Vaillant thanking the Republicans of Paris, "who, by their decisive manifestations, defeated M. Ferry and saved the Republic from a coup d'etat."

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 5.—The election of President Sadi-Carnot has produced an excellent impression here. The attitude of the French Parliament during the crisis is approved as calm and dignified.

ROME, Dec. 5.—The newspapers here congratulate the French people upon the election of President Sadi-Carnot.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—There was considerable excitement in London in regard to the election at Versailles. The hotel lobbies and clubs were crowded with business-men and stock-brokers on the look-out for the first news. The announcement that Sadi-Carnot was elected was received with much enthusiasm, it being generally thought that the French politicians had at last awakened to the full gravity of the situation, and by electing a safe conservative Republican had found a better way out of the trouble than the warmest admirers of Republican institutions under the French dispensation had hoped for.

[Marie-Francois Sadi-Carnot was born in 1837, in the province of Landes, and was a famous civil engineer. In 1857 he entered the Polytechnical School with the rank of five, and graduated with high honors at the head of his class. He was the secretary of the joint council of judges, and was elected engineer at Auxes in 1863. Politics since then have absorbed his attention, and from being prefect of Seinne Inferieure for organizing the National Department of the Seine he rose to be a representative in the Chamber. M. Carnot voted against the act for the abolition of the laws regarding exiles. M. Carnot is a member of an aristocratic family of radicals. He was a member of Perry's Cabinet in 1878.]

BAD WORK BY HARPER.

The Mismanagement of the Fidelity Bank Shown in Many Directions.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 5.—In the Harper trial Saturday, Richard Smith, of the Commercial Gazette, corroborated the evidence of Briggs Swift regarding Harper's denial that the funds of the bank were being used in the wheat deal. Albert P. Gahr, detailed the circumstances of his trip to Chicago June 14, in company with Wilshire. He said he was instructed by Harper to go, and was told that Wilshire would get aboard at Cumminsville with $500,000, which witness was to take charge of and deliver to Wilshire in Chicago, if Wilshire could make an arrangement with the Chicago parties. He gave the package to Wilshire in Chicago. J. H. Stewart, trustee in the assignment of E. L. Harper, testified he found assets to the value of $100,000. Harper's liabilities were over $2,000,000. J. H. Waters, general book-keeper, told of a New York draft that put $300,000 to Harper's credit. He was ordered by Harper to conceal this fact. June 14 Harper ordered him to put out $1,000,000 to the Commercial National Bank for discount.

THE KANSAS COAL FAMINE.

Desperate Farmers Stop the Coal Trains and Unload What They Need.

GARDEN CITY, Kan., Dec. 5.—Saturday night as a freight train on the Santa Fe road was coming through Syracuse it was taken possession of by nearly 200 farmers, who held it until they emptied six car-loads of coal which were bound for points East. No resistance was offered by the trainmen. The farmers had money to pay for the coal, and said they were suffering from a coal famine, and as they could not purchase it they helped themselves. A similar raid was made on a train here Saturday, but as the coal was for this point the men desisted. The famine exists along the line of the Santa Fe for nearly 400 miles, and with no immediate prospect of relief.

JOHN ARENSDORF'S TRIAL.

The Testimony of a Defense Witness Contradicted by the Prosecution.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Dec. 5.—Saturday's session of court was occupied with the rebutting testimony offered by the State. Two witnesses from Canton, D. T., testified that Hagenous, the alibi witness for the defense, had made exactly opposite statements of those which he swore to on the witness stand. The surrebuttal testimony of the defense was simply six witnesses to testify to the good character of Gus Schmidt, who is one of the principal witnesses for the defense. The defense, using the right to call witnesses Monday to testify as to the character of its witness, Mrs. Potter, rested just before the adjournment of court Saturday evening.

FREDERICK WILLIAM'S ILLNESS.

Only the Most Sanguine Physicians Give Him Four Years to Live.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Private information from San Remo reports that there has been no decided improvement in the condition of Crown Prince Frederick William. His physicians are doing all they can to prolong his life under the disease, and admit that there is no chance of removing the disease except by an operation, leaving the chances of curing; the patient small and the chances of hastening his end very great. His most sanguine physician states that, barring accidents such as colds, etc., the Crown Prince may live four years yet, while the others hardly venture to prognosticate his term of life. In any case, it is almost certain that he can never be Emperor of Germany in any thing but the name.

Assigned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 5.—The hosiery mill of L. E. Keatly, at Connersville, was closed Saturday, Mr. Keatly making an assignment to A. E. Barrows. Liabilities $40,000, with assets aggregating a similar sum.

A VIEW OF LOW LIFE

Not From a Moral Standpoint, But in an Entirely Physical Sense.

When the pulse beats feebly; when the energy is gone; when the appetite is weak and sleep uncertain, then the body is in a condition of actual "low life." No matter what the causes may have been Nature has given way and unless her strength is restored disease is certain to take possession of the body. The first thing any doctor does in such a case is to assist Nature. Here are some instances:

Prof. Austin Flint, of Bellevue (New York) College, says: "The judicious use of alcoholic stimulants is one of the striking characteristics of progress in the practice of medicine during the last half century."

The well known Prof. Joseph Parrish, says: "We know that alcohol will steady the heart, slow the pulse, warm the skin, calm excitement and we ought to use it."

The celebrated Dr. J. M. Carnwell, says: "I am most happy to say, after a very thorough test, and for persons suffering with nervous and general debility or any wasting disease, or for delicate persons or invalids, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best to i[illegible] and purest stimulant with which I am acquainted."

There are no higher scientific authorities than these and they speak volumes for this pure and valuable whiskey which has become so wonderfully popular. Beware of all bottled whiskeys which may be offered you, except Duffy's. It has stood the test of time and is absolutely pure. Duffy's Formula is a positive cure for coughs, colds and all pulmonary troubles.

Another Season as Speaker Guaranteed Mr. Carlisle.

UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF THE CAUCUS.

Two Leading Members Come to Blows Over the Doorkeepership—Republican Caucus Nominees—The Fiftieth Congress.

CARLISLE CHOSEN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The caucus of the House Democrats was presided over Saturday night by "Sunset" Cox, of New York. Mr. Breckenridge, of Kentucky, placed before the caucus the name of John G. Carlisle for Speaker, and the nomination was made by acclamation amid enthusiastic applause. In acknowledging the confidence reposed in him by his party Mr. Carlisle said, after returning thanks for the honor conferred upon him:

JOHN G. CARLISLE.

"I need not speak on this occasion of the importance of the approaching session of Congress. I think we all appreciate it, and perhaps there is not one among us who would not gladly escape if he could from the responsibilities which the situation imposes on him. But we can not escape from them. As the representatives of the people we are sent here to do the work which the interests of the people require, and we must do it, or at least make an honest effort to do it. With a united and harmonious Democratic majority it is impossible for us to fail, while without such a majority it is impossible for us to succeed, or, at least, success would be extremely doubtful. It is therefore of the highest importance that we should reconsider, if possible, all differences of opinion among ourselves before engaging in a contest with the common enemy. If we can agree among ourselves on essential points we can well afford, in view of the critical condition of the country, to postpone the discussion of minor matters until a more appropriate time. This course, it seems to me, is demanded by the highest considerations of party expediency and the public welfare. But, Mr. Chairman, I did not intend to indulge in this line of remark, and will not pursue it further. We all know what is expected of us, and I hope we are all prepared to make such concessions and compromises as will secure concert of action and satisfactory settlement of the great questions which will be presented for our consideration."

General Clark was named for Clerk; John R. Leedom, Sergeant-at-Arms; A. B. Hurt, of Mississippi, Doorkeeper; Lycurgus Dalton, of Indiana, Postmaster, and Rev. William H. Milburn, the blind preacher, Chaplain. During the contest for Doorkeeper Mr. Breckinridge, of Arkansas, made a speech in opposition to Captain Donelson, who was a prominent candidate for the position. Mr. Blount, of Georgia, replied in defense of Donelson, and the two statesmen soon became involved in an angry colloquy. Both lost their temper, and before any one could interfere Blount struck Breckenridge a stinging blow in the face, knocking him over a chair. Regaining his feet, Breckenridge retaliated with a sharp blow, and both men clinched, but were soon separated. Blount afterward apologized to the caucus, but said he had none to make to Breckenridge. Neither of the contestants were seriously hurt.

The Republican Congressional caucus Saturday night elected a new steering committee. The nominations for House officers were: Mr. Reid, of Maine, Speaker; Edward McPherson, Clerk; Daniel Shepard, Sergeant-at-Arms; Thomas E. Gray, Doorkeeper; General Fitch, Postmaster; Rev. Richard W. Thomas, Chaplain.

Both houses of Congress are expected to complete their organization in time to be ready to receive the President's message on Tuesday. Little is expected before the holiday recess.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The Fiftieth Congress will begin its first session at noon day. Three Senatorial elections have occurred since those of last winter and the early spring, and at the recent November elections four House members were chosen to fill existing vacancies. Below will be found a tabulated statement of the number of members of both houses from each State, and showing the political complexion of each body. The Senate, of which John J. Ingalls, Republican, from Kansas, is President pro tem, is as follows:

David S. Turpie claims the seat of ex-Senator Harrison, of Indiana, by virtue of a certificate signed by the Governor of that State and the presiding officer of the joint session of the Legislature. This claim will be resisted by the Indiana Republicans, who claim there was no election.

Daniel B. Lucas was appointed Senator by the Governor of West Virginia, to serve until 1889, the Legislature in regular session having failed to elect. At an extra session, called to act upon certain appropriation bills, the Legislature May 5, 1887, elected Charles J. Faulkner, of Martinsburg, for the term of six years ending March 4, 1893. The seat will be contested.

The House stands as follows:

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The Democratic Senators were in caucus all yesterday afternoon on the subjects of senatorial contests. The discussion was held with a view to reaching a definite understanding. It was agreed that the seating of all Democratic Senators-elect shall be insisted upon to the last. An intimation was received in the caucus from the Republicans that they will object to the oath being administered to four Democratic Senators—namely, Messrs. Hearst, Blodgett, of New Jersey, Turpie, of Indiana, and Faulkner, of West Virginia. The Republicans, it was stated, were led to the determination to object to Mr. Hearst by the receipt of a letter charging him with bribery in his election. It was also decided that Mr. Jones, of Nevada, a hold-over Republican, was entitled to a pair with a hold-over Democrat, inasmuch as he will be absent unavoidably from the Senate for some time.

THE MESSAGE.

A New York "World" Special Telegram Purporting to Give Points from the Forthcoming Annual of Mr. Cleveland.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The World prints prominently the following Washington special:

"The President's message to the first Congress of the second century, as the United States, will be unprecedented in the long record of such communications. For the first time in our history this message to a new Congress will discuss but one question. The President will say that in view of the paramount and even vital importance to the country of a reduction of the tariff, he will treat of that subject alone and for the present will refer Congress as to the affairs of the different departments to the reports of the various Cabinet officers. The message will be much shorter than the public has been led to expect. It is entirely in the President's handwriting, is full of his characteristic expressions, and is said to be of his own preparation with, of course, suggestions from his advisers in and out of the Cabinet from the first word to the last.

"The President will take radical ground upon the tariff question. He will recommend that nearly all raw material to be used in the manufactures shall be put upon the free list. He will recommend specifically that iron ores, tin-plate, salt, lumber, coal and wool shall be put upon the free list. He will not recommend that copper ores shall be placed upon the free list. He will not refer at any great length to the discussion as to the reduction of internal revenue duties, but will make it clear that he altogether disapproves of that proposition. He will refer specifically to many articles upon which there are now unduly high import duties and recommend a proper reduction of the tariff upon them. There will be nothing in his message akin to the horizontal reduction scheme of the last Morrison bill. His recommendations are more in the line of the bill offered by Abram S. Hewitt in the Forty-seventh Congress.

"The President's statistician estimates that the reductions thus specifically recommended will amount to about $85,000,000 per annum. The President in referring to the surplus will point out with great vigor the absolute and, above all, the speedy necessity of the passage of such a bill as will at the earliest possible moment relieve the country from this improper and really illegal drain upon its resources. These are the really material points in the message, which will not be sent to Congress until Tuesday.

"The specific recommendations as to the reductions upon given duties will be awaited with the greatest interest. The articles to be named will embrace nearly all of the long series of goods upon which prohibitory or undue protective duties have been placed, but the President thinks that the reductions he suggests will be such as are demanded by equity as well as the necessity of reducing the improper surplus of revenue, and are carefully adjusted with reference to the best interests, business as well as generally economic, of the country.

DEVASTATED BY RATS.

Cats Being Sent to Hugo, Col., by the Thousands to Stop the Destruction by the Rodents.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 5.—J. M. Humphrey, of Belle Plaine, Kan., is in that city on a singular mission. He has two brothers engaged in the clothing business at Hugo, Col. Some days since he received a letter from them stating that rats had collected in the town by the million, and asking him to collect all the cats he could find and express to them. As a result Humphrey collected from owners who were glad to give them away 250 cats in his own town, put them in cages, and expressed them to Hugo. The next day he went to Mulvane, a town twenty miles distant, and there collected 300 cats, and expressed them also. Thursday he visited Mount Hope, and gathered up and sent 100 more. He came to Wichita, Friday morning, and says he intends to finish out a 1,000 cats and then await further orders. Hugo is a town, and from the letter he learned that the cold weather had caused rats to come in from the prairie in great numbers, and they are playing sad havoc with residences and merchandise of all kinds. The letter announced that the rodents had done thousands of dollars damage in the town.

The Pope's Jubilee.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The programme of the Pope's jubilee has been published in the official paper of Rome as follows: On December 31 the international delegation of the jubilee committee will be received; January 1 the Pope will celebrate the grand jubilee mass; January 2 orations and poems composed for the occasion will be delivered at the Church of San Lorenzo; January 3, 4 and 5 the Italian and foreign pilgrims will be received; January 6 the Pope, assisted by the Cardinals and diplomatic representatives of all the nations, will open the grand exhibition of the jubilee gifts. The programme will close with a number of canonizations.

The Georgeites to Have a Ticket.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Secretary Barnes, of the Land and Labor Club, has sent out an address to the supporters of Henry George throughout the country saying that a National Convention for the nomination of a United Labor candidate for President will probably be held next year. The address advises the nomination of local candidates by the party wherever any organization exists.

Dickinson Preparing to Go to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—A letter received in Washington last night from Don M. Dickinson says, among other things: "I have disposed of my household goods. Shall be in Washington next week." This seems to remove all doubt as to Dickinson's entering the Cabinet.

Death of Algernon S. Sullivan.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Algernon S. Sullivan, the well-known lawyer, died last night of typhoid fever. Mr. Sullivan was born at Madison, Ind., and was in his 60th year.

Coroner C. K. McHatten, of Denver, Col., was found dead Friday morning, the result of an overdose of laudanum taken to induce sleep. He was a prominent Knight of Pythias.

Dividend Declared.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The Comptroller of the Currency has declared another dividend of 5 per cent. for the benefit of the creditors of the Marine National Bank of New York City.

Chicago's Limits Extended.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Judge Garnett has dissolved the injunction restraining the County Board from declaring the territory of the town of Hyde Park annexed to the city of Chicago.

Fatal Earthquake in Italy.

ROME, Dec. 5.—The town of Bisignano, in Calabria, sustained severe shocks of earthquake Saturday by which twenty houses were destroyed and several persons killed.

Their Business Boom.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Frank Sherer & Co's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

Waste of Tissue Without Repair.

Vigor begins to decline when dyspepsia invades the stomach. The disease, prolonged through neglect, entails grievous loss of flesh and serious waste of the muscular tissue. To invigorate thoroughly and speedily a sound stomach is required. There is none comparable to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, since it institutes, and if continued, perpetuates a repair of the tissues, which have declined in bulk, vigor and elasticity in consequence of non-assimilation of the food. No time should be lost in beginning the reparative process, nor should there be any delay in removing those ailments of frequent occurrence, which contribute to and foster an enfeebled condition of the stomach and nerves, viz.: constipation and liver complaint, disorders which the Bitters will assuredly extinguish. It also remedies and prevents malarial and kidney troubles, and is a prime auxiliary in the recovery of strength for convalescents from wasting disease.

HARPER'S TRIAL.

Bank-Examiner Powell Tells How the Ex-Financier Begged Him to Pass the Examination of the Fidelity's Condition —President Swift's Story of How He Was Deceived by Harper.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 3.—In the Harper trial yesterday, General Eugene F. Powell, National Bank examiner, testified. He had examined the books of the Fidelity on March 17, 1887, and found everything straight. On June 15, being alarmed by rumors as to the bank's connection with the wheat deal, he appeared to make a second examination. He was begged by Harper to pass the examination, and was then asked to telegraph to the Comptroller of the Currency for authority to not make the examination, but he still refused. He then made an examination, and found three certificates of deposit, aggregating $700,500, bearing no date. There were no entries of these certificates on the books. General Powell on June 20 notified the directors that so much of their resources had been wasted that he would be compelled to close the bank.

Paul B. Ashbrook, the book-keeper for individual accounts of the Fidelity Bank, had charge of Harper's individual account, and said Harper's account was frequently overdrawn. At one time in May it was overdrawn $16,000. The witness read the fluctuations of Harper's and other accounts in which he was interested from January to June. Nearly all were overdrawn at some time.

Briggs Swift, the venerable president of the late Fidelity Bank, was asked if he knew his bank was engaged in a wheat deal. "I did not," was his blunt answer. He then went on to say that he asked Harper in January last if he was in the wheat deal and Harper said he had not a dollar in it. Later he sent him a letter asking him the same question, and he replied by letter saying he had no interest whatever in the matter, and if any man said he had he was a liar. Continuing, Mr. Swift said:

"When the public began to suspect the Fidelity Bank and I wanted to restore confidence, I went to the bank with Mr. Richard Smith, of the Gazette, who has known me for years, and together we catechized Harper on the subject, and he denied it. Then Mr. Smith, upon my assurance and upon Harper's express statement, wrote an editorial denying that the Fidelity Bank was mixed up in the affair. This was but a few days before the failure."

BEHIND THE BARS.

Ex-Lord Mayor Sullivan, of Dublin, Sentenced to Serve Two Months in Prison.

DUBLIN, Dec. 3.—The second trial of ex-Lord Mayor Sullivan for printing in his paper reports of suppressed branches of the National League took place yesterday, and resulted in a conviction. Mr. Sullivan was sentenced to two months' imprisonment, but without labor. Mr. Sullivan will be treated in prison as a first-class misdemeanant. Mr. Sullivan has announced that he will not appeal from the decision of the court, but will suffer his punishment proudly, as he would if it were ten times greater. Mr. Sullivan took his seat on the bench of the court of Assizes yesterday, and kept it until the commission was read. He then made a formal protest against the omission of his name, and withdrew from the court. Mr. Sexton, the high Sheriff, accompanied him in his withdrawal.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The Daily News says: "The imprisonment of Lord Mayor Sullivan is a national scandal. He is a man of the highest character, both public and private. The question which the people of Great Britain is asking in shame and anger is: 'What manner of law is this which converts such men into criminals?'"

A WOMAN SHOT BY HER SON.

The Tragic Ending of a Family Difficulty in Columbia, S. C.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Edwards, of Darlington County, who was accidentally shot by her son, has died. Her daughter, the sister of the boy, can not recover. The father is wounded, but not dangerously. Edwards was whipping one of his children when his wife remonstrated. A quarrel ensued, and Edwards knocked his wife down and beat and choked her unmercifully. His son John, aged 18, begged his father to desist. Edwards threw an axe at his son, barely missing him, and proceeded with the brutal punishment of his wife. The son ran into the house and grabbed a gun loaded with slugs and pieces of iron, and commanded his father to desist. A daughter was at the point of interfering in behalf of her mother. Edward paid no heed and his son fired. Father, mother and daughter fell, each having received a part of the contents of the gun. Before she died Mrs. Edwards exonerated her son from all blame. The boy is now in jail.

At Peace with Plymouth.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Thursday afternoon the Executive Committee of the Beecher Statue Fund Committee met and, after hearing an explanation from Dr. Parker, unanimously adopted a resolution exonerating him from all blame in the eulogy matter. The eulogy was pronounced without compensation received by Dr. Parker, and the committee take this opportunity of extending to him their thanks for his splendid tribute to the memory of Mr. Beecher.

THINGS IN NEED OF INVESTIGATION.

Cunning Devices by Which the Public Lands Are Wrongfully Appropriated —Plans for Their Circumvention—The Indians.

POINTED SUGGESTIONS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—In the annual report of the Secretary of the Interior there is one chapter that should interest every citizen who has read with shame and indignation of the many flagrant inclosures of public lands. The papers transmitted from the General Land Office show that during the year 405 illegal inclosures, aggregating an area of nearly 7,000,000 acres, have been reported. Proceedings have been instituted in 183 cases, and special agents report that in 165 cases the removal of illegal fences has been accomplished, throwing open to public use 3,894,000 acres. In addition to this 1,500,000 acres have been reclaimed by special agents sent from the office to New Mexico and Wyoming. The Secretary says:

"Only where corporate connivance and prodigal railroad grants came to their assistance had the cattlemen still defied the law and rendered powerless the efforts of this department to correct this abuse. As I write this report complaints come from a region little visited by my inspector that certain large and wealthy corporations, composed of foreigners, are constructing further inclosures within the railroad limits. That others are only waiting to see what action, if any, the Government proposes to take to prevent this, and are ready to pursue the same course if this can be safely done. Within the limits of the railroad grants to-day exist the only large or continuous inclosures of public lands. This cunning device for violating the law and furthering their own ends at the expense of settlement could never have been made effectual unless the railroad companies had come to the aid of these capitalists and cattlemen. In Wyoming the railroads have parted with their titles to alternate sections of land which have been granted them and the purchasers have erected fences upon them in such a way as to inclose large portions of public lands.

In these latter instances the Government has not been able to make any material progress, and the public domain has been thus illegally inclosed for more than two years. In two cases the Government failed to obtain indictments because it was impossible to impanel grand juries which were not composed mostly of men guilty of similar acts. To remedy this cunning evasion of the law two plans have been suggested. The first is to establish a public highway around—four rods wide—every section of land, the section lines being the center of such highways. Make this a part of the public land system, so that all future entries made upon the public lands should be subject to this provision. When the land taken for such highways has passed from the Government into the hands of private parties the bill should provide for necessary compensation. This would require a comparatively small amount, owing to the present low value of these lands. An additional advantage, too, would follow from these highways in opening free access to the streams and water courses throughout the whole grazing region now so completely and exclusively controlled by a few to the permanent injury of many desirous of ranging stock upon the broad uplands of the public domain. The second plan considered is to lease the intermediate sections of public land to the owners of adjacent railroad sections. Such leased land should be subject to entry under the land laws at any time, the lessees' rent terminating from the date of entry. Entrymen should have a right to lease adjacent public land proportionate to the area entered, and gates should be placed to suit the convenience of settlers, one every mile.

The Secretary calls attention to the enormous private grants alleged to have been made to the holders by the Spanish or Mexican Governments, a matter which he recommends be investigated as soon as special legislation can be enacted by which to cover it. Out of 4,000,000 acres, the titles to which have been examined by the Surveyor-General during the last year, it has been decided that only 200,000 acres are held by valid title. The annual loss to the Government by the destruction of timber by fire alone is estimated at $7,000,000. To this should be added the more important but secondary loss which follows the destruction of the timber by floods, land-slides, climatic changes of a permanent character and the violations of the law by depredators upon the timber on public lands. Legislation is needed which would look to the preservation of the natural forest lands at the headwaters of navigable rivers, and also a method of putting within the reach of settlers a legal means of providing them with timber for building their homes, fuel and other domestic purposes.

The Secretary suggests that the public land strip be added to the Territory of New Mexico. When the matter of Indian affairs is reached it is found that of the remaining 173,600 Indians under their supervision, about 58,000 wear citizens' clothes wholly; that 10,477 houses are occupied by them: that about 25,000 can speak English with sufficient intelligence for ordinary conversation; that more than 10,500 of their children are in schools receiving educational and industrial training, for whom 237 schools are in operation, and that over 31,000 families are engaged in industrial pursuits. They have cultivated over 238,000 acres, built over 205,000 rods of fencing, produced over 750,000 bushels of wheat, 950,000 bushels of corn, 402,000 bushels of oats, 68,000 bushels of barley and rye, 514,000 bushels of vegetables and 83,000 pounds of butter. Besides the above they have gathered for use and sale considerable quantities of wild rice, berries, herbs, furs, fish, snake root, etc. They have sawed 1,552,079 feet of lumber, cut 74,000 cords of wood and 102,000 tons of hay. They own over 392,000 horses, 3,000 mules, 113,000 cattle, 48,000 swine and 1,120,000 sheep. Droughts have seriously affected the yield of their crops the last year.

In the opinion of the Secretary "the Indian race has reached a crisis in its history. Surrounded on all sides by the forces of civilization; all the reservations closed in and pressed upon by ever-increasing masses of population, made up of impetuous, daring and aggressive settlers, miners, ranchmen and traders; with no possibility of removal to other reservations or of escape into mountain fastnesses, the only alternative presented to the Indian race is absolute extinction or a quick entrance into the pale of American civilization."

He compliments the Indian Freehold law and its workings, but after reviewing the statistics of Indian educational matters he says:

"I have no pleasure in contemplating or in stating any unpromising features of our work among the Indians; but I am convinced that if, for their transition from the old to the better and more systematic life, we continue to depend so fully upon the powers of attraction, our Government will continue to be troubled with the Indian problem for an indefinite period.

"I am persuaded that the question of compulsory education of all the Indian youth of the tribes and bands under the care of the general Government is worthy of early and serious consideration. Any movement in this direction should have the full warrant of the law, and the methods prescribed should be wisely adopted and as nearly uniform as practicable, and should be kindly and judiciously, but firmly, enforced."

The Secretary calls attention to the increased efficiency and diminished expenditures of the Pension Office, for which, he says, all the credit is due to the Commissioner. He suggests that the orphan children of deceased soldiers who may be entitled to pensions until they are sixteen years of age should be allowed to draw the same after that period if they are incapacitated for making a livelihood, and that soldiers' widows who may remarry and subsequently become widows or be divorced without fault of their own should have their pensions revived to them.

At the next session of Parliament the Canadian Government will introduce a bill for the abolition of the NorthWest Council.

PAINT YOUR BUGGY for ONE DOLLAR

Use Only COIT & CO'S ONE-COAT BUGGY PAINT. Paint Friday, run it to Church Sunday. Eight Fashionable Shades: Black, Maroon, Vermilion, Blue, Yellow, Olive Lake, Brewster and Wagon Greens. No Varnishing necessary. Dries hard with a "shine." One Coat and job is done. Indispensable to Farmers, Livery-Stable Keepers, and Repair Shops. The greatest money-saving invention of the age. Excellent for Lawn Seats, Flower Pots, Baby Carriages, Screen Doors, Furniture, Store Fronts, etc. Just the thing for the ladies to use about the house. Avoid worthless imitations. We warrant ours not to turn white and to wear at least one year. A quart does a buggy complete.

COIT & CO'S HONEST HOUSE-PAINT

Are you going to Paint this year? If so don't buy a paint containing water or benzine when for the same money you can procure COIT & CO'S PURE PAINT that is warranted to be an HONEST, GENUINE LINSEED-OIL PAINT and free from water and benzine. Demand this brand and take no other. Merchants handling it are our agents and authorized by us, in writing, to warrant it to wear 5 YEARS with 3 COATS or 3 YEARS with 2 COATS. Our Shades are the Latest Styles used in the East now becoming so popular in the West, and up with the times. Try this brand of HONEST PAINT. You will never regret it. You run no risk. Every job and every gallon warranted.

FLOOR-PAINT that WONT DRY STICKY

Ever buy Floor Paint that never dried beyond the sticky point, waste a week, spoil the job, then swear? Next time buy COIT'S FLOOR-PAINT, 4 suitable shades, warranted to dry hard as a rock over night. No trouble. No swearing. Be suspicious when substitutes are offered by Dealers, stating that "they are as good" as ours. It is not so. Cheap imitations cost less, give more profit but no satisfaction, and life is too short to waste time and money on them. COIT & CO., of CHICAGO, Manufacturers

EMMA HERMAN PLEADS GUILTY.

The Celebrated Murder Case Comes up For a Trial in the Circuit Court

The Defendant Pleads Guilty On the Second Count—A $250 Fine.

The Emma Herman case came to a sudden termination late this afternoon.

By consent of the district attorney the plea of not guilty on the charge of infanticide was withdrawn and a plea of guilty entered on the charge of concealing the birth of an illegitimate child.

It was just twenty minutes of four when Judge Bennett ordered the defendant to be brought inside the bar to receive sentence.

"I approve the action of the district attorney in allowing the first plea to be withdrawn," said his honor; "and I order that the defendant be made to pay a fine of two hundred and fifty dollars: and that she be confined in the county jail until the fine is paid, but not to exceed eight months."

BRIEFLETS.

—Pocket books, albums, etc., lettered at the Gazette bindery.

—All Souls church will rejoice next Wednesday evening in an old fashioned supper.

—Eunice Goodrich at Lappin's hall this evening—popular prices, ten and twenty cents.

—At the First M. E. church last evening the regular evening service was replaced by a service of song.

—The new musical society will meet to morrow evening in the lecture room of the Congregational church.

—Superintendent Atwood says the street car stoves will run sixteen hours on one small shovelful of fuel.

—Saturday's rain left many of the streets where water pipe had been laid in a thoroughly impassable condition.

—Janesville's mail communication with other towns has been bettered, but there is still much room for improvement.

—Crytal Temple of Honor No. 32 assemble in regular weekly session this evening—lodge room in the Judd block North Main street.

—The Rev. Father McGinnity, of St. Patrick's church, who has been housed by sickness for several days, was able to be down town to-day.

—Now is the time to have your books in if you would like to have them by Christmas. The Gazette bindery is prepared to do any kind of binding on short notice at a small cost.

—State Superintendent Thayer has just made an apportionment of the sum of $25,000 to the 133 "free high schools of the state. The Janesville high school" gets $215.70, being as great a sum as any.

Another large reduction in the price of clothing at Cannors & Murphy's old stand. Must be sold inside of ten days regardless of cost. All accounts must be paid at once to save cost.

AMOS CRALL, Mortgagee.

—If you have a volume of Century Harpers, St. Nicholas or any other book which you would like for Christmas, send it in or let us know and we will call for it and have it bound nicely and neatly for a little money. GAZETTE BINDERY.

—It is becoming more and more apparent that the Rock county jail is in poor condition. And still, with the tools that were at hand Thursday night, a man of perseverance could have made his way out of a double-locked burglar-proof safe.

—This morning the Milwaukee & St. Paul road began running a through mail car from Mineral Point to Rockford. The car reaches Janesville from Mineral Point at 9:30, and leaves for Rockford at 9:45. Coming back it reaches Janesville at 4:15 p. m.

—Superintendent H. C. Thom has been reelected president of the Rock County Teachers' Association for another year. The other officers are: Vice president, F. M. Jack; secretary, G. H. Davy; treasurer, Willis Miles, and librarian, Lillie Godden.

—Agents for the Standard Oil Company are arranging for the construction of oil warehouses throught this part of the country. In Janesville they will have a barreling station as well as a warehouse. The ware-house at Beloit has already been begun.

—The ladies in charge of the W. R. C. bazaar will be at the G. A. R. hall tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of disposing by sale of the aprons and other articles not disposed of during the continuance of the bazaar. The doors will be open at two o'clock.

—After to-day the Gazette will contain daily barometrical readings for this locality. They will be from the officially-tested instrument at Frank Sherer's drug store. Weather probabilities obtained in this way will be found remarkably accurate and of much value.

—Under Rookwood & Sweeney the Grand hotel has more than regained the prestige it formerly enjoyed. Of late the capacity of the house has been thoroughly tested. Before long two clerks will be needed all the time—one to register the guests and one to shake hands with them.

—The Woman's Foreign Mission Circle of Court Street church, will hold its monthly meeting and missionary tea at the home of Mrs. S. D. Conant, 165 North High St., on Wednesday of this week, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Let the friends of this circle remember the time, and be present. Tea will be served at six o'clock.

—Messrs. Thacher & Breymann, the sub-marine engineers having in charge the laying of the water mains across the river at South First and Center streets and at Racine and Galena streets, completed the Racine and Galena street crossing on Saturday. This, with a little work on the shore ends, completes their work in Janesville. So well was the pipe pulled across the river, that the divers will not "go down" to do any caulking, it being considered all right as it is.

—As the Gazette predicted the report of another cotton factory being established near Janesville is as yet without reliable foundation. Captain Edward Ruger was asked about the matter this morning but would say nothing either way. It is surmised that the surveying from which the stories referred to in Saturday's Gazette sprung, concern more especially some matters soon to come before the courts. The eastern men mentioned are in the city for a different purpose but one that cannot yet be made public.

—The children taking part in the chorus at the concert given by the pupils of Miss Benedict on Friday evening last were Misses Belle Neal, Bessie Norcross, Mabel Palmer, Beulah Hodson, Mamie McCaffrey, Gussie Lowell, Emma Bliss, Nellie Nash, Jessie Echlin, Gertie McDougall, Helen Cogswell, Elva Crawford, Belle Gunn, Hattie Carpenter, Dollie Best, Hattie Kinney, Grace Wright, Edith Arnold, Jennie Ford, Masters Eddie Norcross, Sammie Echlin, Floyd Yoemans, Willie Denniston and Charlie Bliss, and all did exceedingly well.

—The ladies of All Soul's church will give a supper of the good old fashioned kind at the parlors of the church on Wednesday evening of this week. The ladies of this church are celebrated for the very able manner in which they entertain their guests. This supper is for the public, and all are cordially invited, and will be most heartily welcomed, Supper will be served from six to eight, and the charge is only twenty-five cents. There will be a pleasant social time, and we have no doubt that all who patronize the supper will agree that they have had a most enjoyable time.

—Dr. James Mills can now receive his patients in one of the handsomest physician's offices in the southern part of the state. Within a short time past the original office has been enlarged by the addition of an operating room, a medicine room and a ladies reception room. Each of these is handsomely furnished. Probably the gem of all is the last, which is fitted up as richly as the parlor of a private house, and which has every convenience. The others are all admirably suited to their several purposes, however, and will enable the doctor to supply the demands of his increasing practice with greatly increased comfort.

—The Young People's Guild of Christ church has completed the arrangements for the first of a series of entertainments to be given at Lappin's opera house Monday evening December 12. The first part of the programme will consist of literary and musical selections. A scenic piece entitled "The Artist's Dream" and a comic scene taken from "Rosamond or The Rifleman's Ball," For the second part will be given "The Boston Dip." Every character in this laughable comedy is a star and will be fully sustained by our best local talent. The programme will be published in full the last of the week.

—Miss Eunice Goodrich's engagement at Lappin's opera house is a step in the right direction. It illustrates the fact that many of the best attractions now on the stage are abandoning old scales of prices and trusting to full houses to make up for the consequent reduction. Moreover, it does much to establish the tone of the place of amusement over which Manager Moseley now presides. Critical play-goers who saw Miss Goodrich last week and who have compared her work with that of the brightest stars of the American stage, are loud in her praise and her audiences this week have no fear of disappointment.

—A very small audience witnessed the presentation of "Joan of Arc" on Saturday evening, by the Maud Banks' combination. The audience was undoubtedly the smallest ever assembled to witness a theatrical performance in this city, there being only forty-eight people in the lower part of the hall. The play of "Joan of Arc" possesses much merit, and in the hands of a company of actors, would be interesting and entertaining. With the exception of Miss Banks, the company on Saturday evening, were very poor excuses for actors—but few had their parts, the voice of the prompter being a conspicuous part of the play.

—The W. R. C. bazaar at the G. A. R hall came to a very successful termination on Saturday evening, that being the third and last night of the bazaar. The attendance was very good, and the ladies of the Relief Corps gave an entertaining programme for the amusement of visitors. Several gentlemen, including Messrs. S. C. Cobb, J. B. Green, D. B. Rockwood, Lucius Lee and S. B. Kenyon made speeches, and music was furnished by the ladies. The grand prizes of the evening were awarded to Mrs. Wm. Winkley and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs B. R. Bilt, the prizes being the two handsome quilts on exhibition. The fish pond was the source of much amusement to the spectators and profit to the ladies to the close. The bazaar was a success throughout.

—The Council Bluffs Bee:—Mr. Vivian, of Janesville, Wis., was in the city yesterday looking for a favorable location for the establishment of a large bakery, wholesale and retail. He became thoroughly convinced that Council Bluffs was a good point for such a business, and if he can secure just the right sort of a building, he will doubtless open business here speedily. He has gone farther west and will decide in a few days concerning the matter. He was surprised at the few store buildings for rent here, in comparison with other cities, and this was one of the strongest recommendations which the city presented. It is a solid assurance of the prosperity of this city that there are no vacant houses and no vacant blocks, and a constant demand for more.

PERSONAL.

—Dr. J. H. Warren started for Washington this morning, to look after his mail contracts.

—Mr. J. Hall went to Chicago this morning. Mrs. Hall will follow on Wednesday and will accompany her husband to the east.

—Mr. H. G. Arnold has been called to New York on account of the serious illness of his father.

—Mrs. C. H. Townsend and daughter, of Washington, D. C., left to-day, after a few day's visit with the family of Dr. G. W. Chittenden.

HIS SLEEP DISTURBED.

William McCaffrey Awaked by a Locomotive Crushing Him Almost to Death.

One Arm Amputated at the Shoulder—Other Serious Injuries Sustained.

On Saturday night near midnight, William McCaffrey, who resides with his parents near Pleasant streets at the western limits of the city, was returning home from the city, and fell asleep on the track of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, beyond the round house. Soon after midnight the switch engine, Mr. John Callahan engineer, was run out in that direction, as is the custom, for the purpose of pumping water into the boiler. After proceeding a short distance west of the round house, Mr. Kennedy, a switchman, who chanced to be on the engine, noticed a man lying on the track, and yelled to the engineer to stop. The engine was stopped as soon as possible, but not until the forward trucks had passed over the sleeper, and as it now appears, the unfortunate man had been dragged by the fire box some two or three rods on the ties, marks in the mud showing this to be the case.

The man was taken out from under the engine, and Dr. J. B. Whiting, the company's surgeon, summoned. The man proved to be William McCaffrey, about 20 years of age. It was found that his left arm was badly crushed clear up to the shoulder, some of the fractured bones penetrating the chest, inflicting dangerous wounds. He being under the influence of liquor, Dr. Whiting had a consultation called, consisting of Drs. Henry Palmer, J. W. St. John and J. B. Whiting, Jr., and it was thought best to delay operations until the influence of the liquor had in part worked off. The amputation of the arm was, therefore, delayed, and at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning Dr. Whiting performed the operation, removing the arm at the socket or shoulder joint.

At last accounts the young man was resting as easy as could be expected, but if he recovers it will be some time before he will be able to be out. He has no one to blame but himself.

THE LADIES' SAY

That felt hats to match the costume will "obtain" for winter wear.

That there is a growing tendency to wear hair low in the neck.

That simple, loose fitting dresses for little girls always find admirers.

That water-proof mantles are being superseded by the very attractive water-proof costume.

That marine blue, green and lilac umbrellas are trying to supplant the more sober colored black.

That in spite of the long mantles or paletots which almost cover the whole dress, smaller mantles are much worn.

That a novel but costly hair ornament consists of tortoise shell combs less than two inches long and set with small gems.

That the combination of blue and red woolen material so much liked for autumn costumes will enjoy great favor for winter wear.

That umbrella handles are more elaborate and expensive than ever and that the once much liked arm ring is now quite out of date.

That envelopes now show long narrow monograms to the left of the writer, and so extended as to fill the whole height of the envelope. The monogram goes across the note paper, stretching from one corner to the other.

Notice to Stockholders.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Janesville Machine company will be held at their office in the city of Janesville, Wis., on Tuesday, December 6th, 1887, at 2 o clock p. m., for the purpose of electing a board of directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of any other business that may come before the meeting.

LIVING STATUARY.

Stormy Weather Interferes With the Entertainment's Success.

"Guess how much the baby weighs, the ba-a-by weighs, the ba-a-a-by weighs," hummed Doorkeeper Pierson at Lappin's hall Saturday night.

"Weighing the Baby" was the scene on which the curtain had just risen, so Mr. Pierson's lapse into song was easily explained. But his collection of appropriate melodies lasted only a short time. The demand on them was too great. After the avoirdupois of the infant had been duly found the curtain rose on "Going to the Parson;" and "The Rap On the Window," "The Rival Physicians", "The Favorite Scholar," "The Courting of Miles Standish" and several other groups followed in quick succession. Readings and music were interspersed.

The groups were representations of those of Rogers' and were wonderfully effective. Brown costumes and brown face powder gave a striking resemblance to the originals in clay, while the expression in the faces was something that no clay, however deftly handled, can show.

The literary and musical programme presented was of unusual excellence. Miss Emma Crall gave several select readings, while among the vocalists that took part were Miss Baldwin, teacher of music at the Institute for the Blind. Miss Baldwin is a comparatively recent addition to Janesville musical circles. Her selections were simple, old-time ballads sung with a sweetness that held the audience spell bound.

Besides Miss Crall and Miss Baldwin there were on the programme, Misses Maggie Jones, Phemie Grant, Dollie Best, Hattie Carpenter and Hattie Kinney; Mr. George Brooks, and a quartette from the orchestra of the Institute for Blind.

It is to be regretted that on account of the weather many who would otherwise have been present were kept at home. In order to give all their friends an opportunity to enjoy the production the ladies in charge have arranged to have it repeated in the Sunday school room of the Congregational church this evening tickets being placed at ten and fifteen cents. A large attendance is expected.

THE AGE OF BAGS.

Something About the Most Popular Article of Home Manufacture.

There is no article of home manufacture so deservedly popular as the bag. It is made in all sizes, forms and materials, from the highly and richly-ornamented shopping-bag to the plain silesia or cretonne stocking-bag. A bag is never superfluous, but always answers the purpose of being both ornamental and useful. The society belle, whose soft hands have never worked on any thing rougher than satin, carries at her side a tasteful addition to her evening toilet, a beautiful handkerchief bag, a fit receptacle for the dainty bit of lace that seems too delicate for use. Again, on the street she walks slowly along, dangling from her arm a richly-worked shopping-bag, in which a number of little knick-knacks are hidden. How many? Only a woman could ever imagine. By her side, hurrying along, trips the working-girl, with her lunch-bag made of plain cassimere, or worked on one side, as if to lighten it, a bright flower. The lunch inside may be meager, but that isn't any thing, for nobody knows it; the bag hides that, and she passes along with as bright a face and light a step as if the bag instead contained the knick-knacks of her wealthier neighbor. The school-boy, with his books in a plain canton flannel or cassimere bag thrown over his shoulder, jogs carelessly along, while his companion, the school-girl, with a bag of the same material, though daintier make, carried on her arm, trips gayly by his side. The law student comes along, his small books encased in a flannel or felt bag, with his monogram on a flower design worked upon it, tucked under his arm. The musician or student of music carries under his arm or in his hand a bag of the same material, with his monogram, a few notes of the staff or a miniature instrument worked upon it, a nice, convenient receptacle for his instrument or score. The drummer hurries by with his sample-bag, made of canvas, and worked by mother, sister or friend. The old lady with the sweet face, who has come on a visit to relatives or friends, moves feebly and confusedly along, holding tightly by the handles a linen shawl-bag, bound and worked in dress braid. The millionaire broker walks leisurely down the street. He doesn't carry a bag, you say? Oh, yes, he does. He carries a money-bag. Surely it is the age of bags.—Boston Budget.

CARE OF PIANOS.

How to Keep Musical Instruments in a Good Condition.

It is evident that, if the piano is to remain in good order for many years, good care must be taken of it. The instrument should be closed when not in use in order to prevent the collection of dust, pins, etc., on the sound board. However, it must not be left closed for a period of several months and longer, but be opened occasionally and the daylight allowed to strike the keys, or else the ivory may turn yellow. Any hard substance, no matter how small, dropped inside the piano, will cause a rattling, jarring noise. It is in every case desirable that an india rubber or cloth cover should protect the instrument from bruises or scratches. The piano should not be placed in a damp room, or left open in a draught of cold air. Dampness is its most dangerous enemy, causing the strings and tuning pipes to rust, the cloth used in the construction of the keys and action to swell, whereby the mechanism will move sluggishly, or often stick altogether. This occurs chiefly in the summer season, and the best pianos, made of most thoroughly seasoned material, are necessarily affected by dampness, the absorption being rapid. Extreme heat is scarcely less injurious. The piano should not be placed very near to an open fire or a heated stove, nor over or close to the hot-air furnaces now in general use. Moths are very destructive to the cloth and felt used in a piano, and may be kept out of it by placing a lump of camphor, wrapped in soft paper, in the inside corner, care being taken to renew it from time to time. Many persons are unaware of the great importance of having their piano kept in order and only tuned by a competent tuner. A new piano should be tuned at least once every three or four months during the first year, and at longer intervals afterward.—Musical Journal.

A Young Snob Rebuked.

I was told the richest thing about a Minneapolis girl. A certain Swedish baron of a fine family and education came to this country and, the old story, found himself obliged to obtain any situation to keep himself above absolute want, so he entered the clothing store of Mr. —— as clerk. Well, this young lady, hearing he was a noble, must have his autograph, so she came into the store one day and requested it, leaving her album. It puzzled him greatly. Why should she want his autograph, a complete stranger? Suddenly the truth struck him and he wrote his name and beneath: "Clerk in Mr. ——'s store." "You should have seen her face lengthen," said he, "and she said: 'I didn't want that. I wanted your name and your title.' 'There it is,' I answered; 'there's the name and clerk at Mr. ——'s is the only title I wear in this country."—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

THE duty of looking up, with loving honor, to those who have age and wisdom, because of what they are, is not always borne in mind as it should be by the young: On the other hand, the duty of looking down with loving honor upon the young, because of what they are to become, is not always borne in mind by the older ones, as it should be. Yet the young who are wise will honor the old and the old who are wise will honor the young; for both young and old have their mission, in the plan of God, and they deserve honor accordingly in their several spheres as God's representatives.—S. S. Times.

THEIR FIRST BIRTHDAY.

The Presbyterian "Christian Endeavors" Hold Their First Annual Meeting.

How the Society Was Formed and What It Has Since Aimed to Do.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church celebrated its first birthday last evening. And a very encouraging birthday it was. The church was well filled, young people's faces were numerous and a general spirit of revivalism prevailed.

The growth of the Y. P. S. C. E. in this city has been remarkable. Branches are at work in three of the churches already, and more are likely to be organized soon.

The society has been described as "the West Point of the church." The branch of the Janesville Presbyterians includes some of the best material in the state, and the interest shown last night was nothing more than could be expected.

The final address was by the Rev. Mr. Brown. Mr. Brown, in beginning, spoke of the great need that had always existed for some connecting link between the Sunday school and the church. He explained the origin of the Christian Endeavor society, and traced its growth through the "Tuesday evening prayer meetings" and the "Bible Corresponence" society into its present form. By it, he said, young people were being led to grow up well rooted in the faith and fully prepared to take up the work of the church whenever their elders should lay it down.

Secretary Layton read a report of the work the society had accomplished during the first year. The officers for the next six months have just been elected and are as follows:

President—Miss Louisa Hanson.
Vice President—Walter Metcalf.
Secretary—E. E. Layton.

Valuable papers were read by Miss Clara Steele and Miss Hannah Hanson. Miss Steele's subject was "The Relation of the Y. P. S. C. E. to the church," Miss Hanson's, "How Does the Society Help Young People?" The meeting was then thrown open for remarks from those in the congregation. Many responded and among other things interesting accounts were given of the recent conventions at Beloit. Before the young people were dismissed committees were announced for carrying on the various details of the work during the half year to come.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer indicated 30 degrees above zero. Cloudy with south wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 29 degrees above zero. Cloudy with west wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 4 degrees below and 17 degrees above zero. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 11 degrees above zero. Clear with southwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 32 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 2 degrees below and 27 egrees above zero.

The spooks and goblins that delight,
To fill with terror all the night;
That stalk abroad in hideous dreams
With which dyspepsia's fancy teems,
Will never trouble with their ills
The man who trusts in Pierce's Pills.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets:—vegetable, harmless, painless, sure!

DOCTOR FANNY DIXON, of Chicago, is the first physician of the gentle sex to be admitted as a member of the International Medical Congress, recently assembled at Washington. She is a slight, demure little woman, retiring in manner and extremely modest. Her specialty is diseases of the eyes. She says that she knows of only two other oculists of her own sex in the country. One is Doctor Sargent, of San Francisco, a daughter of the late Senator Sargent, and the other is a Michigan woman.

MRS. JOHN TYLER, of Virginia, attracted a good deal of quiet attention at New York the other day, for the reason that her husband had been President of the United States. There are five living widows of Presidents. They are Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. Tyler, of whom the last is the least known. Mrs. Tyler is a well-proportioned, dignified lady of some sixty years, whose dark complexion lends an air of distinction to her gray hair.

OF the Empress Eugenie a Paris correspondent writes: "She was lately at Amsterdam, whither she went to consult a noted Dutch physician respecting the rheumatism, from which she is a constant sufferer. An American lady who saw her there says she has grown very stout and infirm, and has lost every vestige of her once dazzling beauty. She is subject to attacks of insomnia, during which she will sit the whole night through before the portrait of the prince imperial, and these attacks usually terminate in fits of weeping and acute hysteria."

JAY GOULD'S wife is a gentle, affable, courteous, retiring woman. She would not be called a handsome woman, yet her face is more attractive than many a beauty's. She is well educated and possesses an air of refinement. She is shy and does not care for society. She is the confidant and constant guardian and companion of her daughter Nelly, and passes several hours each day with her two young boys, Frank and Harold. Her son George is a source of great pride to her. Mrs. Gould was a Miss Miller, whose father was a successful grocer of New York. She was brought up in a well-appointed home, and has been accustomed to wealth and refinement since her childhood.

MME. PATTI has a fan on which are the autographs of all the sovereigns of Europe. Here follows a selection of some: The Czar: "Nothing is so soothing as your singing." The Emperor of Germany: "To the ever-singing nightingale." Queen Christina: "To the Spanish woman from a Queen who is proud to have her for a subject." Queen Victoria: "If King Lear is right in saying that 'a sweet voice is a precious gift in a woman,' you are the richest of women." The Emperor and Empress of Austria have merely signed. M. Thiers, at the time he was President of the Republic, wrote: Queen of song, I stretch forth my hand to thee."

The opinion of an old and well-known merchant is given in a few words, viz: I think Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best cough medicine that is made.

LUTHER B. BLACK, Selma, Ind.

Diseased nature oftentimes breaks forth in strange eruptions, and the result of it all is pain. Now Salvation Oil will send this very pain to the right about at the trifling cost of only 25c.

Their Business Boom.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Frank Sherer & Co's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.
